The More You Live, the More You Love [*][7" Remix]

Par A Flock of Seagulls

Album : The Story of a Young Heart [Bonus Tracks]

Don't ever give your heart to a stranger

Or tell your secrets to a friend

Don't put your heart in mortal danger

They'll all desert you in the end

The more you live, the more you love

Or so they say

The more you love, the more you go away

They say that nothing lasts forever

And even true love turns to pain

Don't trust your feelings to a stranger

Don't wanna go through this again

The more you live, the more you love

Or so they say

The more you love, the more you go away

The more you live, the more you love

Or so they say

The more you love, the more you go away

Don't ever give your heart to a stranger

Don't ever think that you can hold on

Don't put your heart in mortal danger (danger)

You'll turn it around and love has gone

The more you live, the more you love (you love)

Or so they say

The more you love, the more you go away

The more you live, the more you love

Or so they say

The more you love, the more you go away (go away)

The more you live, the more you love

Or so they say

The more you love, the more you go away (go away)
