A Simple Mistake

Par Anathema

Album : Universal

Think for yourself you know what you need in this life

See for yourself and feel your soul come alive tonight

Here in the moments we share, trembling between the worlds we stare

Out at starlight enshrined, veiled like diamonds in

Time can be the answer, just take a chance, lose it all

It's a simple mistake to make to create love and to fall

So rise and be your master you don't need to be a slave

Of memory ensnared in a web, in a cage

I have found my way to fly free from the constraints of time

I have soared through the sky seen life far below in mind

Breathed in truth, love, serene, sailed on oceans of belief

Searched and found life inside we're not just a moment in

Time (feel renewed inside)

Can be the answer (feel the truth in life)

Just take a chance (see beyond sky)

Or lose it all (beyond our waking eyes)

It's a simple (when the night is long)

Mistake to make (fell I don't belong)

To create love (when sky is grey)

And to fall (you turn to me and say)

So rise ("Love is all we are,)

And be your master (together or apart")

'Cause you don't need (when the light of day)

To be a slave (turn me on my way)

Of memory (feel renewed inside)

Ensnared (feel the truth in life)
