Day ten: Memories

Par Ayreon

Album : The Theater Equation CD 1

It's been 10 days, it shouldn't last this long

The doctors' mystified; nothing's physically wrong

But maybe inside his head he's struggling to survive

Would it help if we talk to him? Bring him back to life

Do you remember that time we were showing off our brand new flashy bikes?

You looked so fine until you both fell over and then started to cry!

Do you recall that day fearlessly we climbed the highest tower?

Then you became afraid, too scared to climb down you stayed up there for hours!

Do you remember that time?

Do you recall that day?

Do remember that time alone at last, naked by the fire?

Then all your friends came by, they rushed in the room and you had no time to hide

Do you recall that day you proposed to me, fell down to your knee?

You didn't know what to say so she knelt down too for she thought you'd lost your keys!

Do you remember that time?

Do you recall that day?

Can you see her light shining through the black?

She's reaching out to you, what's holding you back?

Can you feel her warmth glowing on your skin?

Don't repress the memories

Let them all in
