The Castle Hall

Par Ayreon

Album : Into The Electric Castle - Disc Two

At last! You enter the Electric Castle! Here, in this vast hall, where

Even shadows fear the light. Here, you must confront your past.

If you have killed, beware the Gathering of Spirits,

For they do fish for men. Here, the disembodied Astral World

Becomes flesh once more. I pity the men of swords.

For here, blood runs cold...

Cries from the grave resound in my ears...

They hail from beyond my darkest fears...

Faces of the past are etched in my brain...

The women I raped, the men I've slained!

Shades of the dead are sliding on the wall!

Demons dance in the castle hall...

I call upon the sword, the mighty Excalibur

Grant me the skill to fulfill my quest!

I call upon my king, the knights of the table round

Grant me the courage to stand to this test!

I call upon the seer, Merlin the sorcerer

Grant me the magic to end my pain!

I call upon the spirit that lives in the noble heart

Grant the passion that will fill my veins

Shades of the dead are sliding on the wall!

Demons dance in the castle hall...

Cries from the grave resound in my ears...

They hail from beyond my darkest fears...

I call upon the seer, Merlin the sorcerer

(Faces of the past are etched in my brain...)

Grant me the magic to end my pain!

I call upon the spirit that lives in the noble heart

(The women I raped, the men I've slain!)

Grant the passion that will fill my veins

Shades of the dead are sliding on the wall!

Demons dance in the castle hall...
