Album : Bleed

My obsession with causing torment

Will be the death of you

You should have listened

So bitch, scream motherfucking just one more time

You should have been connected

To the right of the circle

One by one against the wall

A two door face into the bed

It's going to be okay

The stench of open sea will be your hell

I am humanity's savior

In a world overcrowded with the diseased

I will do what you fucking won't

And I'll leave you in a sense of clarity

My obsession with causing torment

Will be the death of you

You should have listened

So bitch, scream motherfucking just one more time

You should have been connected

To the right of the circle

One by one against the wall

A two door face into the bed

It's going to be okay

The stench of open sea will be your hell

I am humanity's savior

In a world overcrowded with the diseased

I will do what you fucking won't

And I'll leave you in a sense of clarity

My obsession with causing torment

Will be the death of you

You should have listened

So bitch, scream motherfucking just one more time

You should have been connected

To the right of the circle

One by one against the wall

A two door face into the bed

It's going to be okay

The stench of open sea will be your hell

I am humanity's savior

In a world overcrowded with the diseased

I will do what you fucking won't

And I'll leave you in a sense of clarity

My obsession with causing torment

Will be the death of you

You should have listened

So bitch, scream motherfucking just one more time

You should have been connected

To the right of the circle
