Gods Don't Negotiate

Par Craving

Album : Call Of The Sirens

The light of wisdom burns within us

Like fire in our souls, it flies

This knowledge is our fuel

Our craving, it feeds our furious, awoken minds

Like fire, our resolve just flies

Within our souls we strive for vengeance

The laws to lead us harm impose

Our mind is our mirror

Begun to hammer and seek revenge through crushed red rose

Our fragile egos creating angst

And fear gives birth to blank estranged

What gives us power on this page

And manifests our mental cage

Within we suffer seeking help

Unable to cry out assistance

Within this cage locked down our feelings

Forbidden thoughts we can't escape

Our minds are cold, bitter and silent

Without empathy, crushingly violent

Obey the judgement, you can't escape

Because thoughts can't negotiate

Within we suffer seeking help

Unable to cry out assistance

Within this cage locked down our feelings

Forbidden thoughts we can't escape

Our minds are cold, bitter and silent

Without empathy, crushingly violent

Obey the judgement, you can't escape

Because thoughts can't negotiate

Our minds are cold, bitter and silent

Without empathy, crushingly violent

Obey the judgement, you can't escape

Because thoughts can't negotiate

Within we suffer seeking help

Unable to cry out assistance

Within this cage locked down our feelings

Forbidden thoughts we can't escape

Our minds are cold, bitter and silent

Without empathy, crushingly violent

Obey the judgement, you can't escape

Because thoughts can't negotiate

Within we suffer seeking help

Unable to cry out assistance

Within this cage locked down our feelings

Forbidden thoughts we can't escape

Our minds are cold, bitter and silent

Without empathy, crushingly violent

Obey the judgement, you can't escape

Because thoughts can't negotiate

Thoughts can't negotiate

Thoughts can't negotiate
