Questioned Apocalypse

Par Dispatch

Album : Gut the Van: Wimpy

I went over to the drug store to check my head against
The bright light but she caught me from behind
Though I did not know though I did not care i could not tell
That I was blind to think my world a bubble
Or to think that my brother's was too
And that she had come
To shatter all that I knew
So I straightened up my back and I cry
Do what you must dooooooooooooo

Take me now before I change my mind

Take me now before I lose my mind

So I headed to the deep, deep forest

To catch my earnings

But my earnings were all up

My brother looked up at the sky he go

Why have you poisoned my brother's cup

And I cry don't you worry boy

Cause the woman who came for me

Will surely show you your bliss

For she holds the answers to all your fears she

Questions the apocalypse

Take me now before I change my mind

Take me now before I lose my mind

(Take me now before I change my mind

Take me now before I lose my mind

Take me now before I change my mind

Take me now before I lose my mind)

Take me now before I change my mind

Take me now before I lose my mind
