The Hunter (Live)

Par Dokken

Album : World of Corridors (Live Milwaukee '95)

Clouds roll by as I look to the sky

And then that feeling comes, it comes on again

You know desire burns like a fire, fire of sin

Oh, will I ever learn

You're the only one I would call my own

But then the shadows fall and I'm gone again

I'm a hunter

Searching for love

On these lonely streets again

I'm the hunter

Searching for the things

That I might never find again

Care for you, you know that I always will
I know it's hard for you, my taste for the kill
But then it calls to me when the moon rises full in the sky
You know it's not denied
Will I ever find love and peace of mind
On these streets again, will it ever end

I'm a hunter (hunter)

Searching for love

On these lonely streets again

I'm the hunter (hunter)

Searching for the things

That I might never find again

You know desire burns like a fire, fire within
I guess I'll never learn

You're the only one I would call my own

But when the shadows fall, you know I won't be wrong

I'm a hunter (hunter)

Searching for love

On these lonely streets again

I'm the hunter (hunter)

Searching for the things

That I might never find

I'm a hunter (hunter)

Searching for love

On these lonely streets again

I'm the hunter (hunter)

Searching for the things

That I might never find

I'm a hunter (hunter)

Searching for love

I'm the hunter (hunter)

Searching for the things

That I might never find again
