(I'm Gonna) Love Me Again (From "Rocketman")

Par Elton John & Taron Egerton

Album : Jewel Box

Oh, the joke was never hard to tell
Threw my spare change in the wishing well
The dream alone is always in your hands
If that don't fill the boy, and build the man
A heart has many secrets, so I'm told
Through the years, a theory can grow cold
I'm up, to be the king, it's gotten clear
The voice inside my head's, the one I hear
Saying, I'm gonna love me again

Check in on my very best friend

Find the wind to fill my sails

Rise above the broken rails

Unbound by any ties that break or bend

I'm free, and don't you know?

No clown to claim he used to know me then

I'm free, and don't you know?

And oh, oh, oh, I'm gonna love me again

The golden age was somehow bittersweet

But now the past lies sleepin' in the deep

The peaceful days that followed hollow nights

A kiss or touch, could feel like Kryptonite

Praise the Saints that hung up, on my wall

For trust is left, and love is after all

A whispered word, emergin' from a tale

My wake-up call, to claim the cursed spell

And I'm gonna love me again (love me again)

Check in on my very best friend

Find the wind to fill my sails

Rise above the broken rails

Unbound by any ties that break or bend

I'm free, and don't you know?

No clown to claim he used to know me then

I'm free, and don't you know?

And oh-oh-oh, I'm gonna love me again

Said I'm gonna love me again

Check in on my very best friend

Find the wind to fill my sails

Rise above the broken rails

Unbound by any ties that break or bend

I'm free, and don't you know?

No clown to claim he used to know me then

I'm free, don't you know?

And oh, oh, oh

Oh, oh, oh

Oh, oh, oh, I'm gonna love me again

I'm gonna love me again

I'm gonna love me again
