House Of Sand

Par Elvis Presley

Album : Paradise, Hawaiian Style FTD

Oh, you can take a whole lot of sand

And build a castle on the beach

And though you mold it and you plan

Still you got nothing in your reach

One little slip and it tumbles down

One wrong step and it crumbles all around

Like a house without love, that's sure to fall apart

A house of sand is an empty work of art

Or you can build a tower of clay

But if you ask my advice

Well it is worthless as I say

It's got no heart as cold as ice

One little slip and it tumbles down

One wrong step and it crumbles all around

Like a house without love, that's sure to fall apart

A house of sand is an empty work of art

One little slip and it tumbles down

One wrong step and it crumbles all around

Like a house without love, that's sure to fall apart

A house of sand is an empty work of art

A house of sand is an empty work of art
