Quote

Par Evans Blue

Album : The Pursuit Begins When This Portrayal Of Life Ends

Quote, you are my soul, unquote

Now does that sound familiar?

Kiss the boy and make him feel this way

Quote, well, this is me, unquote

You have been so ugly your entire life

So why change now?

Is this how you wanna go down, right before my eyes?

You are the saddest sight I know

You're quiet, you never make a sound

But here inside my mind, you are the loudest one I know

Quote, we never talk, unquote

And that's when I don't answer

Don't you dare ask why

Because you don't want to know

Quote, well, woe is me, unquote

How different I've become

And no one understands, my dear

No one really cares

Is this how you wanna go down, right before my eyes?

You are the saddest sight I know

And you're quiet, you never make a sound

But here inside my mind, you are the loudest one I know

And you were right, right from the start

It took everything you had

But you finally broke my

And now the old things will pass away

I saw your light once, did you see mine?

But not all things will pass away

You turned your light off, so I turned mine

Away from your sadness

Away from the nothing that you feel for me

Is this how you wanna go down, right before my eyes?

You are the saddest sight I know

You're so quiet and you never make a sound

But here inside my mind, you are the loudest one I know

And you were right, right from the start

It took everything you had

But you finally broke my

Quote, hey, listen, 'cause I'll only say this once

I finally found the words

That mean enough to me

Goodbye, my soul, unquote
