The rise

I hope to see you

When it hits morning

But it's just empty

Beside my body

I hope it's coming

I'll take any answer

I just can't wake up

Again without you

When I take my life I will take it slow

I'll forget our names out in the snow

(Na-na-na-na-na)

I'll become fearful, as I grow old

I'll wait for you, looking out the window

I'll keep your love, upon my skin

It's all, I have till it's time again

I know

(unintelligible femtanyl noises)

I look down and see your love

I look down and see your love

Please can I hold you

Until it's done

I won't forget

I promise

I promise

Please

I promise

I promise
