Tonight's Today

Par Jack Penate

Album : Everything Is New

I'm in a haze, an in between stage

'Cause I'm not awake but walk in a state

Of ghostly charm, a deadly calm

And my filthy palms reach for the harms

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Tonight's today, today's tonight, tonight's today

Everyday, everyday, everyday

Tonight just became this morning

The sun waves at the moon

The thought has just started dawning

As I still so much more that I can do

I shuffle into the sunlight

A zombie roaming on the day

She look's at me and says what a sight

A passing woman says

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Tonight's today, today's tonight, tonight's today

Every night's the same

I'm ringing church bells, church bells

I'm ringing church bells

I'm ringing church bells, church bells

I'm ringing church bells, I'm ringing bells

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Tonight's today, today's tonight, tonight's today

Everyday, everyday, everyday

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Tonight's today, today's tonight, tonight's today

Everyday, everyday, everyday

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Today's tonight, tonight's today, today's tonight

Tonight's today, today's tonight, tonight's today
