Opened Once

Par Jeff Buckley

Album : Sketches for My Sweetheart The Drunk (Disc One)

I once was open and one with a travelling heart

I loved this sweet guide

Just like affection rushing in your riverbed

Arise like applause in my head

And in the half-light where we both stand

This is the half-light, you see me as I am

Just like the ocean, always in love with the moon

It's overflowing now, inside you

We fly right over the minds of so many in pain

We are the smile of light that brings them rain

In the half-light where we both stand

In the half-light you saw me as I am

I am a railroad track abandoned

With the sunset forgetting I ever happened

That I ever happened
