That's Your Business

Par Joe Cocker

Album : Favourite Rarities

Should I count to ten?

Save that

Are you ready? One, two, three, four...

If you glad that you've got nothing to say

If you glad that you've nowhere to pray

Oh, baby, that's your business now

If you glad that you've got nothing to do

Don't you know I depend on you

Hey, baby, that's your business now

When it's all over and you're lying in your rug

And then you start to feel that certain kinda buzz

Don't feel uneasy, just give her a knee

She's just some woman trying to get some speed, yeah

If you glad that you've got nothing to feel

If you glad that it's so, so real

Hey, baby, somebody shine on me

Lay down

Back into bridge

When that's all over and you're sitting it your rug

Then you start to get that sweet old flash above

Oh, don't feel uneasy, just give her a knee

Just some woman trying to get some speed, Lord

If you glad that you've got nothing to hide

If you glad that you've got nothing to side

Hey, baby, that's your business now

If you glad that you've got nowhere to weep

If you glad that you've got nothing to sweep

Hey, sweetie, that's your business now

If you glad

Oh, if you glad

Bet you don't feel bad

If you glad

Oh, if you glad

If you glad then don't feel bad
