Ciudad dormitorio (versión en inglés)

Par La Habitación Roja

Album : Largometraje

Walking down the same old streets

We walked together last spring

It's hard to accept yourself

When your life don't treat you nice

I wish I was faster than God

I wish I had more than one life

My name in five letters

Don't fit together at all

This is the least that I can do

Tell you the truth, tell you what I do

Every morning I turn up the skies

Every night I turn off the lights

Crush the mirrors we had at home

Don't wanna see myself anymore

It has no sense to live my life without you

Without you

Without you

The saddest thing, or the saddest dream

As grey as cities, as grey as me

What I call success

For us means nothing but a mess

This is the least that I can do

Tell you the truth, tell you what I do

Every morning I turn up the skies

Every night I turn off the lights

Crush the mirrors we had at home

Don't wanna see myself anymore

It has no sense to live my life without you

Without you

Without you
