In your eyes, you are living

Inside, in your head

When your heart has a limit

You don't need a friend

And in time, you are praying

You'll know what to say

Will the heart keep on giving

Without any gain

In the night, like a curtain

You'll open the truth

And your lies, they aren't working

You know what to do

Ooh boy, what you didn't find

But you let inside in your dead-ass mind

Ooh girl, what you're beautiful

Would you rather be what you want to see

Ooh girl, what you love is true

Would you let it do what you let in me

Ooh girl, what you're going through

Was your mind made up what you want

Will you break your heart

In a wishing well

With your lies, you don't know it

But you already tell

Though your heart, it is hurting

You live out and live on

Many nights, many lovers

But you've nowhere to run

Ooh boy, what you didn't find

With your good advice but your dead end sign

Ooh girl, what you asking for

Once you get enough, you don't have no more

Ooh boy, don't you wait too long

When you get it right, you could be so wrong

Ooh girl, were you hurt inside

When you get advice, you will know it, know it right
