Are You Out There

Par Night Demon

Album : In Trance

One more for the road

Cannot get enough

But you can feel your heart is pounding out of you

The scene has fallen down

The king has lost his crown

Just a faded memory of this old town

Johnny, come home

From the dark backstreets you roam

Alone somewhere

Hey, renegade, are you out there?

So scared, all alone

Wanting someone there

But you threw all that way

Now, didn't you?

When she hurt you for the first time

That woman said it was the last time

But it was you who did the crime

Open up your eyes now

Johnny, come home

From the dark backstreets you roam

Alone somewhere

We need to know, are you out there?

Just another fix might do ya

This train is rolling off the rails

Through the fog you cannot see the shore

Just another casualty of the war

Through the looking glass

It seems your time has passed

Search for answers that you know will set you free

But the real power lies within you, oh, oh

Your rock has lost its roll

The next gig is your funeral

You've gotten out of control

You won't live again, oh, no

Johnny, come home

From the dark backstreets you roam

Alone somewhere

Hey, Johnny boy, are you out there?
