Elysium

Par Red Handed Denial

Album : Redeemer (Deluxe Edition)

Sailing beyond the astral field

Wide eyes accept the light no mortal eye has seen

Rapture

Hear the angels sing

Craving for something more beyond the open door

Resembling something like a dream

Is this what it means to be free

The end is near

Knees buckling

As I climb a staircase adorned with beauty

It's glistening

So show me the way and I'll follow

Forget all the fears of tomorrow

Don't fret there is no time for sorrow

Oh my time is here

At the end of the road

I close my eyes as I'm slipping away

Life will unfold

Elysium

The kingdom, it beckons me

Then suddenly a gleam of light shines before me

With divine hands leading the way

With pain you've overcome the suffering

As wings unfurl it seems

That I've merely scratched the surface

Sailing beyond the astral field

Wide eyes accept the light no mortal eye has seen

Rapture, hear the angels sing

Craving for something more

At the end of the road

I close my eyes as I'm slipping away

Life will unfold

Elysium

The kingdom, it beckons me

Then he speaks

His arms wide and welcoming

Warm and inviting

Enter now my child! Remorse has set you free

At the end of the road

I close my eyes as I'm slipping away

Life will unfold

Elysium

At the end of the road

I close my eyes as I'm slipping away

Life will unfold

Elysium

The kingdom, it beckons me

So show me the way and I'll follow

Forget all the fears of tomorrow

Don't fret, there is no time for sorrow

Oh my time is here
