"The Fire"

I'm gonna say it like I mean it,

We've let this go on to long.

You know I'm starting to believe it

That all together we could be strong

I won't name who's to blame for the misery and pain

It's a shame all the same that we

Lay down and play their game.

You've got it wrong,

It's not alright

We've got the fire, but does it mean anything

We've got the fire tonight.

We wanna fight but will that change anything?

Will it make it alright?

I know it's vague but I'll say it

There's something wrong everywhere

And you're ashamed to admit it

But if it's not then you don't care

Well they will put you away

For the things that you say

And you're not buying in,

But their still gonna make you pay

You've got it wrong,

It's not alright

We've got the fire, but it doesn't mean anything

We've got the fire tonight

We wanna fight but will it change anything?

Will that make it alright?
