A Brave New Hope

Par Rhapsody

Album : Challenge the Wind

Here in a barren plain where the heroes are gone

I will rest my wings for the battle to come

Even though the wind fights against my own will

I'm the chosen, I'm not disheartened

And heroes and hordes will fight to claim their fate

For a brave new hope

The honor prevails over fears

A brave new world

No more shadows will scheme in the dark

Rain of fury, show all your splendor and gold

You will serve the righteousness, magical sword

Even though we share the misfortunes, we know

All the glorious splendor, we know the reward

The revenge will fall on the lord of the fire

We will face his flame with our self-sacrifice

There's no room for terror, nor hell on this earth

I'm the chosen, I'm not disheartened

And heroes and hordes will chase their fate

Unveil the future

For a brave new hope

The honor prevails over fears

A brave new world

No more shadows will scheme in the dark

Heroes and hordes will fight to claim their fate

For a brave new hope

The honor prevails over fears

A brave new world

No more shadows will scheme in the dark

A brave new hope

The honor prevails over fears

A brave new world

No more shadows will scheme in the dark

Here's a brave new hope

When heroes are shining the evils return in the dark

In the dark
