Desolate July

Par Sons of Apollo

Album : MMXX

Without reason

A dream becomes a tragedy

I'm still not believin'

Is this reality?

So tell me

'Cause I don't really wanna know

Did you really have to go? Oh

With no chance to say goodbye

And we're left always wondering why

Another desolate July

Night is silent

The innocence has found its way

The days are demising

Still the memories remain

So tell me

'Cause I don't really wanna know

Did you really have to go? Oh

With no chance to say goodbye

And we're left always wondering why

Another desolate July, yeah

Another desolate July

I don't believe what I'm hearing

It's tearing down my soul

Through every turn you're still reappearing

This void has taken its toll

And now I'm running

I can't stop this bleeding

And now I'm seething

My despair I'm feeling

'Cause I don't really wanna know

Did you really have to go? Oh

With no chance to say goodbye

And we're left always wondering why, oh

So don't really wanna know

If you really had to go, oh

With no chance to say goodbye

We're left always wondering why

Another desolate July
