Cold Hands

Par Yagya

Album : The Inescapable Decay Of My Heart

I hide my hands inside my coat from the cold
Careful not to gaze into the people's souls
Cause no one cares unless they got something to gain
Be careful not to dive into my pain

I'll pray I'll never see you again

Understand, I will look the other way

And if I ever see you by chance

I won't talk about things that drove me away

I guess we must have taken the wrong turn last year
About the time I started to get you help
I passed the point of trying to patch things up
With the flame that keeps pushing me away

I'll pray I'll never see you again

Understand, I will look the other way

And if I ever see you by chance

I won't talk about things that drove me away
